

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

AMERICAN AIRLINES FLIGHTS TO DFW TAKING OFF FROM JACK BROOKS REGIONAL AIRPORT
Southeast Texans to Have More, Easier Travel Options

Beginning February 14, 2013, Southeast Texans will be able to fly direct from Jack Brooks Regional Airport to Dallas/Fort Worth, where they can connect to over 180 destinations.

American Airlines (AA) representatives have been touring Southeast Texas to create awareness about the return of AA to Jack Brooks Regional Airport. The representatives have also been touting a rewards program that offers double miles for the first few months of service, if you join the free AAdvantage program available at AA.com.

Alex Rupp, manager at Jack Brooks, says that the convenience alone is worth getting excited about but also stresses that flying from Southeast Texas, "saves time, involves less stress, helps reinvest in our local community, and puts less wear and tear on your car." Also, he adds, parking at Jack Brooks is free.
